2nd Reading

God reveals his wisdom through the Spirit.

Gospel Acclamation Verse

See Matthew 11.25

Blessed are you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth; you have revealed to little ones the mysteries of the kingdom. Alleluia!

Gospel

Matthew 5:17-37

Jesus comes to fulfill the law.

VOICE FROM THE PEWS

In the first part of this reading Jesus seems to offer parents a freeway to the kingdom. It would seem the kingdom is ours if we live by the Ten Commandments and teach our children to do the same. However, as the reading goes on, Jesus tells us that his followers are challenged to do even more.

To be Jesus' followers, we are to live beyond the letter of the law. For example, it is not enough to say we won't hurt anyone physically (the fifth commandment). Jesus tells us we are not to hurt anyone emotionally either. We must curb our anger. We shouldn't insult others, and we certainly don't call them names. Finally, if we have hurt someone, we offer a sincere apology and try to make amends.

This is definitely a lesson we teach our children by example. All parents lose their tempers occasionally. Regrettably, when I was raising my children, it was more than occasionally.

Fortunately, I learned the importance of saying I was sorry once things had calmed down; and to say it with more than words. I would try to take their hand or sit close to them making sure to look them in the eyes. I would tell them I was wrong, not in the dispute perhaps, but in the way I'd handled it.

As time went on, I learned that by making myself admit I was wrong (something not easy for me to do) I became more aware of what triggered my temper. I learned to walk out of the room before exploding. And because I was modeling the behavior, it was easier for me to make sure my children did the same. Teaching children to admit they are wrong and say they are sorry to a sibling certainly bring us, and them, a little closer to the kingdom.

We acknowledge with respect the elders past and present.*

We are a welcoming parish. REFLECTION

Historical Context – But now I say to you...

There is a distinct pattern to the teaching examples Jesus provides: 'You have heard it said ...'; 'but I now say to you...'. This was a common method of teaching in Jesus' day and is often used as an example to suggest that Jesus was regarded as a Rabbi in his day. It is a typical rabbinical method of interpreting scripture. The rabbi quotes the teaching (you have heard it said...) and then offers an interpretation or reinterpretation of that teaching (but I now say to you). While it is an unfamiliar teaching style for us today, it would have been common in Jesus' time.

Have you thought? – Teaching examples

Jesus cites several examples of the Law to demonstrate the way in which he has come to fulfil those teachings, rather than to abolish them. He reinterprets the teachings on killing, adultery, divorce and oath-breaking. When there is an attitude of observing the very literal meaning of law, there is a tendency to look for loopholes wherever possible. This attitude had become the norm in Jesus' day. His reinterpretations are designed to challenge people to think about the law in a broader context and to take the law into their heart rather than looking for ways to get around it.

Living the Gospel – Interpretation

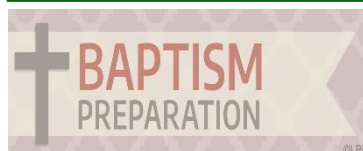

Jesus demonstrates the crucial nature of interpretation. It is easy for us today to look at something like the Ten Commandments or the Beatitudes and dismiss them as irrelevant. Taken literally, they have fairly limited application to our modern lives. However, interpreted in a broader context and within the context of our own lives, such ancient codes of behaviour can take on new significance. Jesus points us towards the importance of looking beyond the surface and searching out the truth of such statements. Interpretation of scripture for our modern lives and modern world is vital to living life to the fullest.

Questions for Adults

Why does Jesus speak about not only keeping commandments but also teaching others to keep them? How do you feel about the interpretations of the Law that Jesus cites as examples? When has a particular interpretation of scripture helped you with a difficult literal passage? Where in your life are you called to be someone who fulfils or completes the Law and the Prophets?

ON A LIGHTER NOTE

They had great seats right behind their team's bench.

After the game, he asked her how she liked the experience.

"Oh, I really liked it," she replied, "especially the tight pants and all the big muscles, but I just couldn't understand why they were killing each other over 25 cents."

Dumbfounded, her date asked, "What do you mean?"

"Well, they flipped a coin, one team got it, and then for the rest of the game, all they kept screaming was, 'Get the quarterback! Get the quarterback!' I'm like, hello? It's only 25 cents!"

SAINT OF THE WEEK

SAINT PETER DAMIAN

Patron Saint Leprosy Sufferers and Outcasts

Feast Day: 21st February

Saint Peter Damian, Italian San Pier Damiani, (born 1007, Ravenna, Italy, and died on February 22, 1072), cardinal and Doctor of the Church, an original leader and a forceful figure in the Gregorian Reform movement, whose personal example and many writings exercised great influence on religious.

Having lost his parents when very young, he was left in charge of a brother in whose house he was treated like a slave. As soon as he was old enough he was sent to tend swine. Another brother, who was archpriest of Ravenna, took pity on him and undertook to have him educated, first at Faenza and then at Parma.

A bright student he became a master and professor and spent long hours in watchful prayer and fasting and great austerity. He took delight in serving the outcasts of society, and by his example, was able bring people back into the narrow path of virtue. After a while he left his worldly goods behind and became a reforming Benedictine monk and cardinal in the circle of Pope Leo XI.

St. Peter was one of the chief forerunners of the Hildebrandine reform in the Church. His preaching was most eloquent and his writings voluminous. He was a great predecessor of Saint Francis of Assisi and he was declared a Doctor of the Church in 1828. He was struck down by a sudden and acute attack of fever and died 8 days later while monks were praying around his bedside. His feast day is February 21st.
