Coping with Personal Loss – ‘Life is Changed, Not Ended!’

Dear Friends,

I recently spent a week in Cairns leading the clergy of the Diocese in their annual retreat. Clergy retreats refresh us spiritually but an important topic is self-care, especially in our ministry to the sick, dying and bereaved, and dealing with our own personal losses. Each of us knows the pain of loss and the mystery of grief which revisits us at unexpected times and in unusual ways.

We priests are very privileged to offer pastoral support to individuals and families who mourn the loss of loved ones – though we do so very conscious of our own human limitations. On many occasions, we too are affected deeply by losses particularly where we know the person who has died or where death has occurred in difficult circumstances. The impact on the community is often significant. People sometimes ask how we priests manage – I describe it as ‘composure’ because we are certainly not detached.

Grief is a reality in all of our lives but our experience will vary when death is tragic or unexpected or the person is young, for example. Disbelief, anger, blaming God, are perfectly normal responses and in some ways how our brain and emotions try to protect us from the acute pain of our loss – rest assured that God copes with all this.

It's not always easy to manage our thoughts or emotions. Returning to the church where the funeral took place can awaken strong memories and emotions, including comforting thoughts too. Prayer is important, especially as a conversation with God, but it needs to be truthful prayer, prayer that tells the Lord how we really feel – sad, desperate, joyful and thankful too. Prayer opens us to receive the loving embrace of the Lord – Jesus who wept for us – so let Him get a word in and let Him comfort and hold us!

No one is good at grief but in the end it's about our love for each other. As time goes on, we need to let our grief change. Have no fear that we will forget the person but let ourselves change and grow as we rebuild our lives and other sustaining friendships and relationships. At times, we may feel we are stuck but change happens in small steps.

Healing takes time... there's no quick fix. Talk with someone you trust. Counseling can help too as well as honouring sacred days – birthdays, anniversaries, Father's Day and Mother's Day, family rituals, and so on. In some way, we all carry loss and love together. Fluctuating moods are quite normal. Self-care is not selfish but also a way of caring for one another. In some strange ways, grief can be a gift, a strange gift that helps our faith that, ‘Life is changed, not ended!’

He leased his vineyard to other farmers.Gospel Mt 21:33-43

Jesus said to the chief priests and the elders of the people, 'Listen to another parable. There was a man, a landowner, who planted a vineyard; he fenced it round, dug a winepress in it and built a tower; then he leased it to tenants and went abroad. When vintage time drew near he sent his servants to the tenants to collect his produce. But the tenants seized his servants, thrashed one, killed another and stoned a third. Next he sent some more servants, this time a larger number, and they dealt with them in the same way. Finally he sent his son to them. "They will respect my son," he said. But when the tenants saw the son, they said to each other, "This is the heir. Come on, let us kill him and take over his inheritance." So they seized him and threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. Now when the owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those tenants?' They answered, 'He will bring those wretches to a wretched end and lease the vineyard to other tenants who will deliver the produce to him when the season arrives.' Jesus said to them, 'Have you never read in the scriptures: It was the stone rejected by the builders that became the keystone. This was the Lord's doing and it is wonderful to see? 'I tell you, then, that the kingdom of God will be taken from you and given to a people who will produce its fruit.

Reflection by Fr. Michael Tate

In the Hebrew scripture, Israel is spoken of as the Vineyard of God. We can say that now the Church is the vineyard of God. God is the Landlord; we are the tenants. It is our job to faithfully tend it and make sure it bears good fruit. If we are unfaithful, then God will find other people to carry on his plan, other tenants to tend his vineyard. Certainly, we see that within the Universal Church. With the decline of the Eurocentric church, who has God turned to as new tenants for his vineyard? Look at the surging numbers of Catholics in sub-Saharan Africa, Nigeria, the Philippines, Korea. The persecuted Church in Vietnam and China is surviving and growing despite the severity of oppression. I think we may agree that the vineyard of the Church in Australia is not as fruitful as it could be. This is a challenge for us. It is wonderful to see the energetic work of the new immigrants and refugees in our parishes (including the Bishop of Parramatta!). We could pause for a moment to commit to taking up the privilege and duty to work in the vineyard of the Church.

Thanks to all

A heartfelt thank you to everyone who supported and participated in our Annual Multicultural Mass. Your presence, service, and generous involvement made the celebration a beautiful expression of the rich diversity and unity of our parish family. May we continue to make room for one another and journey together as one in Christ.
