Month of Contrasting Moods - 'Praying With Our Dead!'

Dear Friends,

Our complementary Feasts of All Saints and All Souls make present for us our destiny through the Paschal Mystery of Christ's Dying and Rising. They begin a month of Sundays that focus more and more closely on the themes of the end time and the Second Coming, culminating in the celebration of Christ the King on 22nd November.

During November, we are invited 'to remember our brothers and sisters who have fallen asleep in the hope of the resurrection' (Eucharistic Prayer II). Our customs include recording the names of our beloved dead in a special book, asking that they be remembered in Masses during November, visits to the cemetery, parish and family prayers for the dead, and of course our Memorial Mass.

Our prayer for those who have died is important as we face the great mystery of death, both as a way of becoming more closely bonded with our dead and especially those with whom we were not always at peace in this life, confident in the promise of ultimate reconciliation in the kingdom where God 'will wipe away every tear from our eyes' (EP III).

St Augustine's cry is helpful: 'You have made us for yourself, O Lord, and our hearts are restless until they rest in you!' Some suggest that Augustine lived a 'refugee spirituality, looking for a home we've never been to.' Our theology has never quite resolved the question of how near or far are the souls of the departed. Christian tradition acknowledges our transition from our life in time to our life in eternity, yet the nature of this 'journey' remains a mystery.

The Church's teaching has evolved over many centuries and recognises that, as we enter eternal life, our spiritual growth continues, echoes of the restlessness we know in this life. We are in the realm of mystery here, beautifully expressed in the simple words of Augustine, that our loved ones have gone, 'but a little way to a better place' (Sermon 172) where we ultimately become one with God. You and I have a way of drawing closer to one another and to God through our prayers for the dead.

What is it that we ask for our departed in our prayers during November? In our grief we can easily distort what is going on, concerned about where our loved ones are. God's mercy and forgiveness, his strong will for the salvation of all, never changes – God does not delay but protects those he loves. Our closeness to those who have died remains,

I suggest that our prayer also includes praying with our dead - prayer bonds us with our dead on their final journey, reflects their closeness to us. May our prayers with them be prayers of intimacy, love and healing. May we find comfort and strength in the words of St Monica before she died in Ostia:

> 'Lay this body anywhere, and take no trouble over it. One thing only do I ask of you, that you remember me at the altar of the Lord wherever you may be' (Confessions IX, 27).

Look, the bridegroom comes. Go out to meet him.

Gospel Mt 25:1-13

Jesus told this parable to his disciples: 'The kingdom of heaven will be like this: Ten bridesmaids took their lamps and went to meet the bridegroom. Five of them were foolish and five of them were sensible: the foolish ones did take their lamps, but they brought no oil, whereas the sensible ones took flasks of oil as well as their lamps. The bridegroom was late, and they all grew drowsy and fell asleep. But at midnight there was a cry, "The bridegroom is here! Go out and meet him." At this, all those bridesmaids woke up and trimmed their lamps, and the foolish ones said to the sensible ones, "Give us some of your oil: our lamps are going out." But they replied, "There may not be enough for us and for you; you had better go to those who sell it and buy some for yourselves." They had gone of to buy it when the bridegroom arrived. Those who were ready went in with him to the wedding hall and the door was closed. The other bridesmaids arrived later. "Lord, Lord," they said, "open the door for us." But he replied, "I tell you solemnly, I do not know you." So stay awake, because you do not know either the day or the hour.'

Reflection by Dianne Bergant CSA

The early Christians thought that all their questions about death had been answered with the resurrection of Jesus. Therefore, when loyal Christians began to die, not only did their old questions come back, but also, they were plagued with new and difficult ones. Was it possible that those loyal Christians had not been loyal after all? Or worse, were the promises made by Jesus empty promises? No! Paul assures us. It is all true. Christ has died; Christ is risen; Christ will come again, and all the faithful will be joined with him. How it will happen, we do not know. When it will happen, we do not know. That it will happen, we are sure. The wisdom that we have culled from life becomes the treasury from which we draw the prudence and insight needed to negotiate life's para doxes. It throws light on our strengths and on our weaknesses; it enables us to discern what is important and what is not; it directs us to bring extra oil in our lamps. Life and the wisdom that we have acquired through it, have taught us that we can indeed trust the promises of God. They have been fulfilled in the past, and wisdom as sures us that they will be fulfilled in the future. It is wisdom that cautions us to be vigilant, to be ready to adjust our plans. It is wisdom that prepares us for the night watches of life. It is wisdom that instructs us to be ready at all times.

Living the Gospel – Living in hope.

A feature of Christian faith is an approach to life that views the future with hope. In our world today many people look to the future with distrust and even fear. As Christians, we look forward with hope. When change occurs, some allow that change to happen to them whilst others engage in the change process and approach it with hope and expectation. Today's gospel reminds us to be ready for what the future holds; to look with hope towards what lies ahead, but to ensure that we've prepared ourselves properly. The future can only be viewed with expectant hope if we've done the proper preparation!
